Each change in season, I suffer temperature extremes in my office. It has been looked at severa times over three years and has not been corrected. I arrive in my office each morning and the temperature is high due to sun from the windows. The windows have mylar coating and blinds which must stay closed to afford any degree of cooling. There are curtain AC vents at the windows but they do not perform adequately. I use a small fan at my desk to remain comfortable.

R_1gnoZZJCK08qeTy	Department of State	Under Secretary for Management	Q26. Please provide any additional comments concerning your overall satisfaction.	Building is so old and following apart. In our office space we had 4 inch or more cast iron drain pipe in ceiling crack (3 feet length) and leak water onto work areas. I have been here since July 2006 and have not seen the interior side of windows ever cleaned, several of the custodial contractor staff do not speak English so it is sometimes difficult to get them to understand that the missing vacuuming your workspace which is done usually each Friday during the day. This means that if you are in a meeting or trying to talk on the phone is difficult while they vacuum or they just skip the area. Many times the bathrooms run out of paper products on FridayÃ¢â¬âs or when larger classes sessions are held in the building, no use of hand air dryer in the bathrooms. The custodial staff try to work hard but many times the clean products or equipment are not effective. Several of the cleaning crew are so short that when they try to dust tops of file cabinets with hand held dust swifter they only reach the front 2 to 4 inches. So I usually do my own dusting in my office once a month with my own polish cleaner for the wood surfaces and regular cleaning products for the metal top cabinets. .

Better communication from building management - there was recently a major change to entering the building and we learned about it the day before from a sign posted in the elevator. Also, we learned about fire alarm testing from a sign in the elevator and the fire alarm stayed on for several hours which made it intolerable to work in the building. There should be a start time and end time so we can plan for the day.

The air needs to be turned on Monday mornings early enough to cool down by 7 a.m. It's HOT more often than not. While it's hot, others have blankets on their legs. If the temperature isn't adjusted, I need permission to dress down. Cold people can put on layers. Hot people cannot do anything but suffer. A constant temperature is 72 degrees!

Main complaint is the temp and air quality in the office. Vents do not appear to be cleaned well. When placing a work order maintainance comes to look at vents but does not clean them, despite dust being on the desk and furniture. Several staff including myself have had developed sinus and respiratory infections that required medical intervention and medication. When not in building for days symptoms subsides. We have had several leaks inthe office. Rugs dried but not replaced. Rugs are not deep cleaned often enough. The desk set up is condusive to developing carpel tunnel. Once you enter the stairwell, the doors are locked to exit, except to exit on the ground level. People can not use the stairs to go from floor to floor, you must use the elevator. If you enter the stairwell on Floor 10, you can only exit on the ground level by walking down all the stairs. \Since the building is secure, I think it is unsafe to make the only exit in the stairwell to the ground floor. If all the doors must remain locked, suggest to provide a card reader to allow you to enter the floor from the stairwell. People want to use the stairs instead of the elevators.

R_2SDhgZ2XkFcJPHI	Department of State	Department of State	Q26. Please provide any additional comments concerning your overall satisfaction.	It is difficult to get permission to use the elevators for freight; often getting any furniture moved means staying after hours. Also, the building owners seem always to blame us for any problems in our suite and look for excuses not to help rather than try to make us more comfortable. And the cleaning people never dust unless we specifically ask them, though they're very good about vacuuming regularly. Overall it's not too bad; we have a lot of space and are grateful for that. Also, we got an OSHA inspection of our suite, and thus learned that the air quality was good even though several of my colleagues had suggested the air here was responsible for their persistent coughs. Several of my colleagues also complain about the temperature all the time. Most of us work early shifts, and the building refuses to keep the air conditioning system on at night, meaning when we arrive in winter we're freezing and when we arrive in summer we're roasting. I guess the contract with the building owners permits this, but it is bad for morale when people are very uncomfortable. My fingers actually grew numb one day last winter.

This building seems to have little ability to control the temperature fluctuations. I have experienced temperatures as low as 64 degrees under my desk in the winter, and as high as 80 degrees in the summer. When we put in a request through the centralized Lease Annex Services, they put in a request. 3-4 hours later, someone might come to check out the same problem the suite has had for over a year (and probably many more). Additionally, people in our office have been told by management company staff that "if we find any of those blinds in your suite open, we won't send anyone up." I keep a thermometer on my desk, and throughout the day before taking this survey, my office never got below 75 degrees on the hottest day of the year thus far.

Please, oh please, mark the doors that have these blocks with LARGE warning signs to ensure tenants know that the doorway is obstructed. I realize each door has a small black sign about eye height but it is easily overlooked. I tripped and fell when departing the building for the parking area. How about a LARGE yellow message to grab someone's attention that something is different about the doorway? I can be reached at magellanjt@state.gov.

R_bEhzWLAXhfd4kil	Department of State	Under Secretary for Management	Q26. Please provide any additional comments concerning your overall satisfaction.	This facility is generally pretty safe and clean. \However, the elevator system is unsatisfactory and can be dangerous. Any person you ask in the building will probably say that the elevators are unreliable and you just hope it doesn't get stuck while you are in it. I have personally gotten stuck in the elevators twice in a two-week period for 45 min or more each time. The Otis company that runs it apparently has to come to the building when people are stuck in it, just to let them out. It can take them 20-60 min to arrive. Not sure I understand why the building management folks can't open the elevator doors when people are stuck inside. \The elevator system is also supposed to be a "smart" elevator system. However, I don't believe they have been programmed correctly. I also think that these elevators can be programmed during the "rush hours" so tenants on the higher level floors don't have to stop at every single floor before reaching their destination. Perhaps there could be express elevators during the morning and evening rush hours.\In general, this building is an older building, but it is not too shabby. The building management are also nice and try to host events for its tenants.

R_UKngzZyMndEey6B	Department of State	Department of State	Q26. Please provide any additional comments concerning your overall satisfaction.	With the number of staff we have in this building, there really should be at least a shower facility available. The nearest shower facility is a several minute walk. This is time wasted in case we want to go for a lunch time run or when we commute via bicycle. There are 1 or 2 showers in the building, but they are not available to all of the building tenants.\\If I can shower in the building, I will be more likely to bike to work in the fall and spring instead of mainly during the summer. This will cut down on the public transit subsidy that I use and save the government a noticeable amount of money.\\In short, there isn't an excuse for not having a shower facility or a gym in our building.
